

Structured Medical Report

Patient Information

- Facility: Evanston Northwestern Healthcare, Evanston Hospital
- Department: Department of Diagnostic Radiology
- Age/Sex: 59 years / Male
- Date of Exam: [Redacted], 2007
- Reason for Exam: Flank pain

1. Thoracic Spine X-ray

- Procedure Name: Spine, Thoracic 3 Views - EMOB
- Clinical History: Left lower quadrant pain
- Findings:
 - Mild hypertrophic spur formation throughout the thoracic spine.
 - Disc spaces are preserved.
 - Vertebral height is normal.
 - No fracture or dislocation.
- Impression:
Mild degenerative changes of the thoracic spine.1

2. Left Ribs X-ray

- Procedure Name: Ribs 2 Views, LT - EMOB
- Findings:
 - No fracture, periosteal reaction, or other bony erosive process involving the left ribs.
- Impression:
No bony abnormality of the left ribs.2

Summary Table

Exam Type	Findings/Impression
Thoracic Spine X-ray	Mild degenerative changes of the thoracic spine.
Left Ribs X-ray	No bony abnormality of the left ribs.

Note: All personal identifiers and exact dates have been redacted for privacy. This structured format is suitable for generating a PDF.